

BAXTER POLICE DEPARTMENT CIVILIAN RIDE-ALONG PROGRAM INSTRUCTIONS AND OVERVIEW

RIDE-ALONG PROGRAM

To promote trust between the police and the community, the Baxter Police Department encourages open and candid police operations. Citizens of the community are therefore encouraged to ride with officers during a four-hour tour of duty.

The ride-along program is one of the most effective programs the police department uses to help citizens become aware of police roles and functions.

If you are interested in participating in the ride-along program, please read the following instructions and overview.

INSTRUCTIONS AND OVERVIEW

Dear Citizen:

As a courtesy to the citizens of the community, the Baxter Police Department has established a policy of allowing a limited number of persons to observe patrol operations of the police department.

We are pleased to be able to extend this courtesy to you. Please keep in mind that while participating as an observer, you will be under the direct control of your host officer at all times.

Due to our concerns for your safety, the safety of our officers, and to assure that we can continue to deliver effective service to all of our citizens, we must place certain restrictions on this privilege.

These restrictions are as follows:

- With a few exceptions, you must be eighteen (18) years of age or older to participate in the program.
- Prior to your ride, you will be required to sign a waiver of liability form. The form is intended to release the City of Baxter, the Baxter Police Department, and any individual officer from civil liability for any and all injuries suffered by you as a result of your association with the department as an observer. In the case of persons between the ages of 16-18 years, this waiver must be signed by both the individual wishing to ride and their parent or legal guardian.
- The police department requires that you be physically able to perform the observation function without assistance from the host officer.
- You will be required to maintain a neat, clean, and businesslike appearance. Please keep in mind that your appearance while in the company of our officers will be a reflection upon the police department. If a question arises about the suitability of your appearance, the supervisor will make a final decision about your continuation in the program. THIS DECISION WILL BE FINAL.

- Under no circumstances may you be armed with a weapon.
- The United States Supreme Court has ruled that under most circumstances civilian observers may not accompany police officers into private residences or businesses without the permission of the occupant(s). When circumstances permit, your host officer will introduce you to the occupants and ask for permission; however, you may not enter the premises until it is granted. When it is not, you will be asked to remain in the patrol car or at a safe location.
- You may accompany the officer during prisoner transport and booking process if in the officer's opinion it would not constitute a hazard to any of the persons involved or interfere with an investigation.
- You shall not participate in any police activity or converse with any prisoner, suspect, witness, or any other person contacted on police business unless your host officer has granted permission.
- You shall not inquire as to why an officer handled a complaint as he/she did until the completion of the call.
- You shall not make any audio or video recordings during your tour.

Now that we have discussed the restrictions placed upon the riders, we would like to familiarize you with certain procedures, which may help keep you safe and may assist the officer with whom you are riding.

- Become familiar with the operation of the radio linking you with dispatch—it is your LIFELINE! Know your officer's badge number and name. In case the officer is incapacitated, you need to know how to use the radio to call for help.
- Know where you are by street name at all times if possible. This could be crucial information should you need assistance. Use landmarks such as local businesses to assist in pinpointing your location.
- Be self-sufficient. Do not become a liability to the officer with whom you are riding. Keep in mind that they have important duties and should not have to be constantly concerned with your welfare.
- Establish a rapport with your host officer. Make sure that you both understand what is and what is not expected of you. Know ahead of time if you are expected to stay in the car on particular calls or incidents.
- Think ahead. Your host officer might like you to jot down the license number, time and other pertinent details while he/she is making the initial contact on traffic stops. Double check the license number for accuracy. This small contribution might help all concerned if something unexpected happens.
- Enjoy yourself. We hope this will be a learning experience for you and give you an insight into the duties of police officers.

We wish to thank you for giving us the opportunity to demonstrate the services performed by our police department.
